

DR. STACEY L. SILVERS

Dr. Stacey L. Silvers is one of the most sought after plastic surgeons and otolaryngologists in the tri-state area. It is not only her selection to America's Top Physicians and America's Top Surgeons that provides a level of comfort, it is also the personal care and attention she brings to every procedure backed by nearly 20 years of experience.

Trained at both Albert Einstein College of Medicine and Boston University School of Medicine, Dr. Silvers is Board Certified in Otolaryngology, including Facial Plastic Surgery, and Head and Neck Surgery. She continued to enhance her experience with training in rhinoplasty, endoscopic brow and face lift surgery, face lift and neck contouring surgery and endoscopic sinus surgery from such esteemed institutions as University of Chicago, University of Pittsburgh Medical Center and University of Tennessee. She is currently an Adjunct professor of Otolaryngology at Touro College in New York and is completing research on a new fixation technique for brow lift surgery.

Dr. Silvers is a sought after lecturer and has presented numerous talks around the country to such influential organizations as the Federal Drug Administration, The Association of Laryngopharyngeal Reflux and Sinusitis, Saint Barnabas Hospital, Montefiore Medical Center, Long Island College Hospital, The Association for Research in Otolaryngology, PRN Organization, Friends in Deed, Gay Men's Health Crisis Center, and Gay and Lesbian Center.

She has also authored numerous articles in her area of expertise for publications such as Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery, Journal of AIDS, Aesthetic Trends and Technologies and the American Journal of Rhinology. Dr. Silvers is also a sought after guest by the media. Her appearances include WPIX News for a piece on revision plastic surgery and a second piece on the credentials required to perform injection of fillers, ABC News for a story on tonsil stones, The Wellness Hour for reports on facial rejuvenation with fillers such as Restylane and Botox and again for a story on natural looking facelifts, and a story in the New York Daily News on facelifts without scars.

Dr. Silvers' professional memberships include the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery (Fellow), the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery (Fellow), and the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. Her hospital affiliations include Beth Israel Hospital and St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City.

In 2003 Dr. Silvers established Madison ENT and Facial Plastic Surgery which has quickly become the premier center for non-surgical, minimally invasive procedures treating more than 5,000 patients each year. In 2009 Dr. Silvers established Madison Skin and Laser Center to provide her clients with state-of-the-art skincare services.
