Regine Weiner Joins Metaverse Mod Squad as Vice President, Professional Services
Digital Services Specialist to Lead Company's Strategic Consulting Team

- Metaverse Mod Squad announced today that digital services specialist Regine Weiner recently joined the company to lead its strategic consulting efforts.
- As head of the Metaverse professional services team, Regine specializes in assisting clients launch, monetize, and support online products and services. Her unique expertise comes from a decade of success in the game industry, where she focused on bringing new products online through the use of proper strategies, toolsets, analytics, and leveraging great customer support and moderation teams.
- Regine's career began on I-Sun's Virtual Student Union and has included positions with the VR Studio at Disney, Cartoon Network, and Gazillion Entertainment. Most recently, Regine served as the Director of Operations for the Nickelodeon Kids and Family Virtual Worlds Group.
- "Regine has been a terrific customer and friend of ours, and we jumped at the chance to bring her on board," said Metaverse CEO Amy Pritchard. "Her deep understanding of what it takes to operate an online game or service, from the concept to the community to the customer support, is a huge asset for us and by extension, for our customers."
- Regine is a frequent panelist at game industry events and resides in Los Angeles, with frequent time spent in New York. Her LinkedIn profile is <http://www.linkedin.com/in/regine> and she tweets as @twizzerd. She can be reached at hi@metaversemodsquad.com.

MORE QUOTES (via LinkedIn):

"Reg is an amazing talent who truly understands the complexity to successfully operate, publish and support online games and products. She is a subject matter expert on COPPA, online safety, e-commerce/billings and customer service solutions, but often goes above and beyond her responsibilities for the greater good.”

--Ed Lu, now VP of Finance, Operations and Analytics at A Bit Lucky, Inc.

“Regine is someone you want on your team. She is honest, smart, passionate and gets things done lightning fast. Regine knows an incredible amount about her field and cares deeply about producing the best work in the shortest time, by knowing her options and choosing resources wisely. I would recommend her on any project where rapid and efficient results were required.”

--Katie Postma, now Community Director, Gravity Bear

“I can't say enough about the reserves of industry knowledge Regine holds in virtual world technologies. . . . She is a rational and calculated professional who I respect immensely in the field of children's online privacy and safety issues, especially in regards to the technology and systems behind it.”

--Joi Podgorny, now Director of Community Engagement at Smart Bomb Interactive
