ScheduledNotes

Sometimes great concepts come from a flash of inspiration, and sometimes they're born of necessity—like the necessity to remember to send a birthday card to a friend, or a Mother's Day card to Mom. Those simple requirements became the foundation of ScheduledNotes—one of the most innovative email marketing products available today. The ScheduledNotes system is the first product that allows you to bulk schedule greeting cards and custom emails for groups of contacts, quickly and efficiently.

ScheduledNotes features a comprehensive suite of business features, including the ability to use greeting cards as marketing tools and create custom emails to send out reminders, coupons, announcements, postcards and special offers. It also features advanced reporting functions like month-at-a-glance views, mailing history, and reporting on the open rate of your emails.
