

"Phoebe"

Written by Kylie Morgan, Liz Hengber, Rob Crosby (2010)

Fifteen shouldn't be so hard
Always keeping up your guard
Walkin' by yourself to school
Sometimes kids can be so cruel

Phoebe I wish I could've known you, I wish I could've told you
Let you know that everything was gonna be all right
This is just a phase in life

Phoebe I know you're up in heaven and now your pain is ended
Now that you can fly away on angel wings and smile again
Can you hear me, Phoebe?

Now's there's just an empty desk
And all this heartbreak since you left
Guess you had no one to call
One friend might've changed it all

Phoebe I wish I could've known you, I wish I could've told you
Let you know that everything was gonna be all right
This is just a phase in life

Phoebe I know you're up in heaven and now your pain is ended
Now that you can fly away on angel wings and smile again
Can you hear me, Phoebe?

You're more than just another picture in the news
You're a part of us, there's a part of us in you
And if we've learned anything, it's that it matters what we do

Phoebe I wish I could've known you, I know I could've told you
Let you know that everything was gonna be all right
This is just a phase in life

Phoebe I know you're up in heaven and now your pain is ended
Now that you can fly away on angel wings and smile again
Can you hear me, Phoebe?