Business Suite Industrial

Enterprise caliber document generation software packaged to meet the Industrial printing needs of small & medium business.

"Making more with less." This phrase perfectly defines the practice that SMBs normally follow. However, this practice need no longer apply to the quality and efficiency of your document design and generation abilities.

With Business Suite Industrial, you will be uniquely empowered to design professionally formatted graphical documents for printing on line matrix or thermal printers.

Until recently, it was inconceivable to consider designing in a GUI a graphical document for printing to a line printer in its native graphics language. DocPath's Business Suite Industrial offering, developed using enterprise level SW architecture, now makes this possible. The input format can be virtually any raw application data, and the design functionality allows for tables, images and data driven messages, barcodes, RFID tags, and much more. In addition, multiple templates can be put into production and conditionally utilized based on data triggers.

While many businesses have been forced to migrate away from line matrix and onto laser due to a severe lack of application flexibility, you can now leverage the power of this solution to easily generate professionally formatted documents while continuing to reap the many benefits associated with line matrix printing. These unique benefits, more relevant than ever, include a surprisingly low cost of ownership (typically much less than laser), unmatched reliability in office and harsh environments alike, and a smaller carbon footprint than virtually any other print technology (Based on energy consumption, HW longevity & consumables waste).

For years other SW providers have been talking about the savings & benefits of migrating away from pre-printed forms, however, half of the story was left untold. Although pre-printed forms are quite expensive, in many cases printing multiple copies on a laser printer is even more so. Additionally, printing multiple separate copies can present other challenges such as the need to sign multiple copies, collating/stapling, etc. Unlike any other offering, DocPath's Business Suite Industrial enables you to affordably migrate away from the cost/inflexibility of pre-printed forms, and onto less expensive blank single or multi-part forms.

In addition to Line Printing, Business Suite Industrial can also be used to design and print labels to thermal printers through native support for multiple thermal printer languages. In this way you can benefit from using a single SW platform for all of your logistics document generation, and do so on your server platform of choice.

Business Suite Industrial is available for installation on iSeries, Windows, UNIX & Linux. Additionally, Business Suite Industrial is upgradeable to Business Pro Suite to enable support for laser printing, larger distributed print environments, PDF generation, and automated delivery of documents to e-mail or fax.
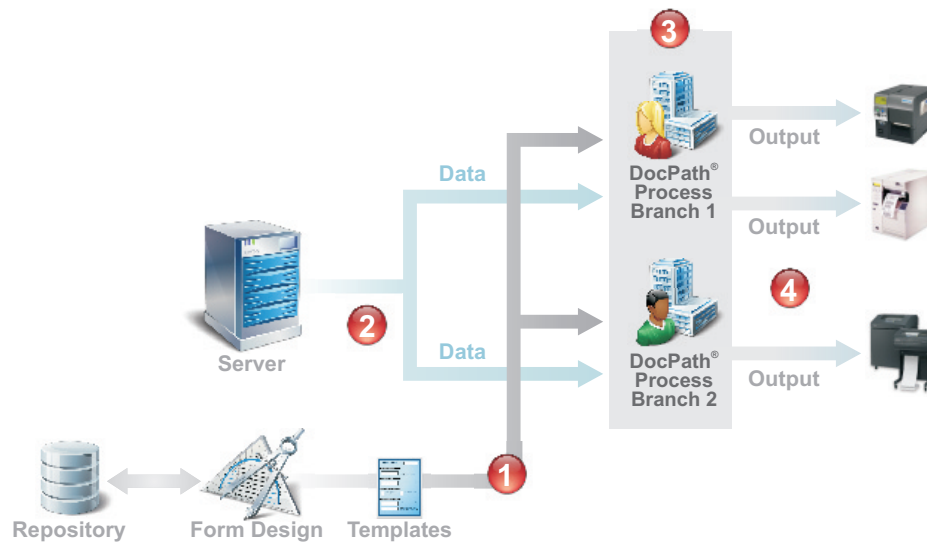

Business Suite Industrial

Enterprise caliber document generation software packaged to meet the Industrial printing needs of small & medium business

Fast installation and intuitive operation

As Business Suite Industrial is designed especially for small and medium businesses, it is simple and intuitive to install and integrates easily with the rest of your company's existing applications.

Business Suite Industrial Advantages

- Enterprise class SW architecture at an affordable price.

- Native support for line matrix and thermal printer languages: IGP/PGL, ZPL, TEC, EPL, IPL.

- Ability to install on iSeries, Windows, UNIX & Linux.

- Simplicity in installation and management.

- Intuitive design tool and powerful document generator for creating professionally formatted business documents: Invoices, Freight bills, Reports, Packing slips, Pick lists, Custom forms, Manifests, Shipping labels, etc.

- Possibility of generating RFID tags, these tags can hold more information than a barcode, and is also more secure.

- Ability to insert dynamic clauses based on business rules: Unique T's & C's, import/export regulations, compliance info, legal clauses, etc.

- Upgradeable to DocPath Business Pro Suite for support for laser printing, larger distributed printing environments, PDF file generation, e-mailing and faxing.

- Integrable with several ERP systems.

DocPath's expertise comes from 19 years of experience in developing output management solutions, and is represented in the US, Europe and Latin America.

DocPath
a step ahead in document software