MARRIOTT EXECUTIVE APARTMENTS SAO PAULO OFFERS SPECIAL SERVICE FOR EXPATRIATES

A large influx of expatriates has begun establishing residences in Sao Paulo, Brazil. The Marriott Executive Apartments Sao Paulo offers long term accommodations, perfect for expatriates.

Sao Paulo, Brazil – The force of globalization brings a new kind of traveler: the expatriate. In 2010, more than 50,000 foreigners were authorized to work in Brazil, a 30% increase over 2009. Of these 50,000 permits, nearly 2,000 were for permanent jobs. Besides adjusting to a new lifestyle, these workers face challenges such as adapting to a foreign language and culture, exploring the new country and, most importantly, finding a place that feels like home. The Marriott Executive Apartments Sao Paulo provides long-term accommodations that will have these world travelers feeling rested and at home.

Last year, 58% of the guests at these Sao Paulo suite apartments were foreigners. "We get foreigners who come to work on a specific project for a certain time, or expatriates who often remain in the country for about two years," said Eduardo Yoshimoto, general manager of the Marriott Executive Apartments Sao Paulo. "We offer the comfort of a home, furnished with the luxuries of a hotel such as LCD TV with cable, DVD player, fully equipped kitchen, laundry service, room service, on-site restaurant, a gym room with state-of-the-art equipment, pool and grocery delivery."

The Marriott Executive Apartments Sao Paulo is located in Vila Nova Conceicao, a quiet residential district of Sao Paulo. This Sao Paulo hotel is within walking distance to Ibirapuera Park.
