

How to use RentChimp.com

1. Login with Facebook

RentChimp uses Facebook Connect for login because we know how important your social network is. Signing in via Facebook allows you to comment directly to your wall or ask your friends for advice on different listings on your favorites page. The only information we have access to through your Facebook account is your name and email so we can send you updates on listings as they change or expire.

2. Add the Bookmarklet to your toolbar

The Bookmarklet is a tool that saves you from copying and pasting individual links from your search results onto the RentChimp page. Simply drag the Bookmarklet to your toolbar, and when you find a listing you like, click on the Bookmarklet. Your listing will be automatically added to your listings page.

3. Search and add listings

Typing in your search criteria will help filter the results to save you time during your search. When you hit search a new page will open with your results. Don't forget to use the Bookmarklet for the listings you want to save!

4. Rank, compare, and share your listings

You can rank your listings by dragging and dropping them on the page or clicking on the number of stars appropriate to your rating. The layout is designed to assist you with comparing your listings side by side; however, if you need to manually edit a listing or look at it in more detail you can do so by simply clicking on the listing. The map feature allows you to compare your listings' locations on a map as well as check out places of interest nearby using Google or Yelp. Lastly, by clicking on the Friends Help tab you can share your listings page with your friends or roommates via Twitter and Facebook.
