Global Primary Research

Since 1995, the cornerstone of the firm has always been field collection and analysis and, in the past several months, we have expanded our geographic footprint in many key countries, industries and languages.

Embedded Monitoring Team

Constant attention to interpretation of subtle change indicators can distract an intelligence team from providing decision-makers with value-added strategic analysis and early warning. Aurora relieves that burden from you.

Knowledge transfer is an implicit source of value for clients who seek out experts to assist in professional training and program optimization. Only Aurora offers an integrated diagnostic method that looks deeply at people as well as process.
