Longleaf Technical Services, LLC Expands Services to Include Tax Preparation and Compliance for Tax Relief Against IRS Collection Notices

Atlanta, Georgia (Longleaf/PRWEB) July 29, 2011 -- Longleaf Technical Services, LLC (Longleaf), an independent forensic and financial services firm headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia, announces a plan to broaden its service offerings to include tax and accounting services.

With the continuing economic crisis, Longleaf's management determined that many taxpayers are taking greater risks in certain tax practices and interpretations. Additionally, individuals are delaying preparation and payments of returns to keep cash flows up for necessary household expenses. The IRS is cracking down on these taxpayers assessing both tax and penalties followed by diligently pursuing collections. Longleaf works collaboratively with tax attorneys and other tax relief companies assisting clients in tax compliance and strategy.

Calvin Bomar, Esq., Partner, Bomar and Phipps, LLC, Atlanta, Georgia, strongly agrees with Longleaf's position related to future tax opportunities and the rising demand for tax relief services. Mr. Bomar affirms, "In today's market, the attorney managing tax liability works hand-in-hand with the CPA performing the compliance work."

Professional Tax Relief, LLC, Gadsden, Alabama, is one "new" company Longleaf collaborates with at a national level. The company, in alliance with call centers and clients nationwide, assists taxpayers who receive significant tax assessments and require an advocate representing them against the IRS. On these occasions, taxpayers' tax compliance issues are brought before Longleaf's staff for referral. Ian Palmer, Esq., Manager, states "Longleaf is highly responsive to Professional Tax Relief's referrals offering their clients personal and professional services. We are excited about the opportunity to work collaboratively with them."
