Convertible Compression Arm Sleeves

Embracing comfort. Soothing support. Healing Compression

Beautiful compression bodice features adjustable front closure and sleek design for healing support following a variety of arm procedures, including brachioplasty and liposuction. Available in white.

Flexible, versatile design. Perfect for:

- Care following arm lift surgery (brachioplasty) and liposuction
- Prevention of extreme, hypertrophic scarring from severe, skin-damaging burns.
- Relief for symptoms associated with lymphedema, such as fluid retention and tissue swelling.

Medical-grade healing

When applied correctly, compression wear can increase blood circulation around surgical areas to accelerate healing, diminish swelling, and flush out harmful fluids. In the event of sudden movements such as sneezing or coughing, the garments help protect and stabilize the surgical site, resulting in a cleaner surgical area with minimal scarring.

Flawlessly fashioned

Nouvelle's exclusive medical-grade designs cannot be found in retail stores. We proudly offer only latex-free products MADE IN THE USA. Our garments use a 55% Lycra®/45% nylon content for a smooth, comfortable feeling next to healing skin. This fabric combination ensures garments never lose compression integrity with continual use and appropriate laundering.
