We Invite You to Become a Security and Sustainability Forum Promotion Partner

Cross promotion of events

Consider partnering with the Security and Sustainability Forum to promote our events and we will do the same for your organization.

The Security and Sustainability Forum (SSF) is a non-partisan, public interest and educational organization that hosts free monthly webinars that focus on the threats to security and social stability from a changing climate and other environmental and natural resource impacts.

Focus: SSF webinars provide our online audiences with direct and actionable information about global environmental threats & trends and mitigation & adaptation approaches. Moderators and panel members are leaders in their industries and engaged in the issues. Our webinars are designed for them to engage in meaningful discussions with colleagues to break new ground and advance the field and the dialogue, which sets apart our events.

Reach: Through our trade and professional association partners and social media outlets, our promotions reach thousands of decision makers, educators and technical professionals. Several hundred professionals have registered for each webinar, split nearly equally between government, industry and academia/nonprofits.

Partner Program Details: SSF partners are organizations that promote our events to their memberships and subscription customers through emails, newsletters, social media and site links. In return, partners receive reciprocal promotion and visibility in our network and in our materials including:

- ✓ Logo and links from our site
- ✓ Event postings on our website events page and listing in our newsletters and emails
- ✓ Links and logos included in each live webinar session and in the recorded archives
- ✓ Ability to contribute technically through panel nominations and topic identification
- ✓ Exposure to over 400,000 professionals through SSF followers, partner organizations and public outreach
