KGS Chooses Electronic Invoicing from Central Consulting Group to Improve Invoicing Processes

Minneapolis, MN—September 13, 2011—Central Consulting Group today announced that KGS Group, a Winnipeg-based provider of consulting, design, and project management services, has selected Electronic Invoicing to improve invoicing process efficiencies.

Designed for AEC and professional services firms, CCG's Electronic Invoicing streamlines and automates the traditionally complex invoice review process. The module helps customers using Deltek Vision shorten the A/R cycle, improve invoice tracking, decrease errors and go paperless.

"Previously, we spent a lot of time shuffling draft invoices back and forth," said Richard A. Long, Controller for KGS Group. "I was invited to attend a webinar by CCG and once I saw the solution and learned how reasonably priced it was, I knew it would be a great benefit for KGS Group."

The invoicing processes at KGS Group prior to implementing Electronic Invoicing were time consuming and resource intensive. The process included printing draft invoices and emailing, faxing or sending them to Project Managers via courier to four different locations.

"Keeping track of who has which invoice and where it is in the process was tedious and time consuming," continued Long. "Keeping track of the invoices with Electronic Invoicing will decrease paper waste and definitely streamline tracking processes."

The deployment of Electronic Invoicing at KGS Group is in process.
