We feel your pain.

"Finding good therapists is not easy. I've been there and I feel your pain! In 2003, I established PTJobs.com to help alleviate the long and strenuous search process involved with finding good candidates."

So, how do you target such a small audience?

Although it would be nice if they all walked around wearing t-shirts to identify themselves, unfortunately – it's not that easy.

Options...

The big job boards?

They're cluttered with millions of unqualified candidates that are ready to apply to every local job posting. Also, they're expensive – over 2x the cost of placing a single listing on PTJobs.com.

The newspaper classifieds?

We've found this to be very ineffective. With the limited pool of Physical Therapy candidates out there, the chances of reaching them via a newspaper advertisement are definitely not favorable.

Well, then what does work?

Focused job postings!

PTJobs.com is focused specifically on jobs within Physical Therapy. The thousands of active job seekers on PTJobs.com are well-qualified and searching for Physical Therapy positions.

Postcard mailing campaigns!

In addition to posting your position on a site that's heavily trafficked by the right candidates, we also recommend sending postcard mailers out to our database of local Physical Therapists in your area.

What else works?

Hourly Recruiting!

Ever wonder how many PTs live right around the corner? We can answer that! Ask us for a free area analysis and we'll report back on the number of local licensed leads within a 20-40 mile radius based on zip codes.

We source and contact local therapists at verified home phone numbers in the evening hours on your behalf and pass along qualified leads for follow-up interviews. Hire more candidates while saving money and time wasted on cold calls.

Hourly recruiting is only $40/hr with a 10 hour minimum commitment.
