

Los Angeles – November 9, 2011 – A Stream In The Desert Productions, LLC is proud to announce production on HAMLET’S GHOST, a dramatic feature following the success of its last endeavor, GUNFIGHT AT LA MESA (LIONSGATE Films Home Entertainment).

HAMLET’S GHOST tells the story of Judge Vaughn, a modern Shakespearean actor, who becomes psychologically troubled while playing Hamlet on stage. His connection to the play takes him back in time to 1920, where he must unravel the mystery surrounding his past life and death. What he uncovers is more than a parallel existence, but his attempt to repair the damage done in the past may leave him there, unable to return to present day.

The movie is set in Los Angeles and in 1920 Alabama. Shot on location in historic Columbus, Georgia and in Los Angeles, this story carries the juxtaposition of modernity and the memorable past alongside the haunted existence of Shakespeare’s Hamlet.

Walker Haynes, the executive producer and director, has co-written the script with veteran writer Cleve Nettles, and Thomas McCarty is set to DP the project. Haynes will play one of the leading roles, along with Glen Mac and Daniel May, while the remainder of the cast is yet to be announced.

A Stream In The Desert Productions is located in Santa Monica, California, and along with HAMLET’S GHOST, is currently co-producing VACANT HOUSE, a psychological drama due to be released in 2012.
