Container Essentials partners with The Global Green Team

Chicago, IL November 15, 2011 – Container Essentials, an industry leader in commercial recycling container systems, has announced a groundbreaking partnership with The Global Green Team.

Chicago, IL (PR Web) -- The Global Green Team, a Chicago-based organization specializing in recycling solutions for companies of all sizes, developed their new Recycling Program in order to help companies curb unnecessary landfill and waste hauling fees. They offer a complimentary site evaluation and then design a comprehensive recycling program that maximizes efficiency, profitability and in some cases makes clients eligible for rebates.

Global Green Team tailors their program specifically to each client's needs, and Container Essentials helps them achieve the right fit. Container Essentials, an independent Chicago-based business specializing in a wide array of containers and accessories for the commercial recycling and solid waste industries, can create custom sized containers that perfectly fit their clients' needs. Together, Global Green Team and Container Essentials have achieved a new standard of recycling efficiency.

"Containers are important in the recycling process," said George Lauber of The Global Green Team. "The right container means a hauler can empty that container and pay a client. The wrong container means the client must pay someone to take the recyclables away."

Steve Phelps, President of Container Essentials said, "We've been working with The Global Green Team to make sure we can provide the right container to the right client."
