

Medical Billing Company Establishes Education Outreach

Capture Billing & Consulting, Inc., establishes a medical billing education division to help train medical billers and certified professional coders entering into the healthcare field.

Loudoun County, VA - Capture Billing & Consulting, Inc.], a medical billing company located in South Riding, Virginia, establishes its new education division. The new division will be managed by Michelle Ivanchukov, CPC, CSS-P (Certified Professional Coding) and Katie Jennings, RN(Registered Nurse).

Michelle and Katie work as a team and have over 10 years of combined experience in the medical billing and medical coding field. Their knowledge and expertise will be essential in the developing and designing the new "Education Outreach" program. The team currently teaches a medical billing and coding class several times a year at the local community college.

Nowadays, with the focus on healthcare many new jobs will be created in the medical billing field. Hospitals and doctors will need trained medical billers and CPCs to help them get their insurance claims processed and paid. The immense amount of government regulations and the constantly changing insurance rules have been a challenge for healthcare professionals. By providing education to current and new medical billers, physicians and medical practices will be confident that their insurance claims are being processed correctly.

"Working as a medical biller has given me insight into the most common errors and the most challenging aspects of medical billing", say Katie. "It is a fun aspect of my job to fight with insurance companies about incorrect denials".

"My current involvement with Practice Management Association (PMA) has allowed me to network with other medical billers, medical office managers, and doctors. This key interaction will give me a chance to customize our program to address many key elements from all perspectives", says Michelle.

Some of the topics covered in the "Education Outreach" program are medical billing, CPT and ICD-9 coding, and practice management software. A majority of the students that will be attending these classes will be comprised of people entering the workforce, changing careers or updating their skills.
