

Medical Billing Company Teaches CPC Exam Preparation Course at Local Community College

Capture Billing & Consulting, Inc. will be teaching CPC exam preparation course at the beginning of 2012 at local community college for medical billers and coders

Loudoun County, VA - Capture Billing & Consulting, Inc., a national medical billing company located in South Riding, Virginia, will be teaching a Certified Professional Coder (CPC) exam preparation class at the beginning of 2012 at Northern Virginia Community College (NVCC), Loudoun Campus in Sterling, Virginia.

Manny Oliverez, CEO and Co-Owner of Capture Billing and several of his experienced staff members will be teaching an extensive class to prepare participants for the five and a half hour long CPC exam. The CPC preparation course will cover the principles and purpose of the Current Procedural Terminology (CPT), International Classification of Diseases (ICD-9 CM) and the Healthcare Common Procedural Coding System (HCPCS) coding manuals. The prep-course will also enable aspiring medical billing coders to assign procedure and diagnosis codes to the highest level of specificity.

"My experienced and knowledgeable staff has taught this class for the past couple of years and we have only had positive feedback from the participants who have completed it. The CPC certification exam is a thorough exam and anyone who plans to take it would greatly benefit from this preparation course", says Manny.

This intensive preparation course will give the test taker access to the latest coding updates as well as review important aspects of the exam. The instructors will provide helpful test taking tips such as ways to tag and highlight the coding reference books to enable the test taker to move quickly from question to question, as well as time management suggestions such as which questions you should answer first. This valuable information will assist participants throughout the exam. They will also review and answer practice test questions and address any concerns regarding the exam.
