IGot2Know's Continued Partnership with Indiana State Police Offers Holiday Video PSA

INDIANAPOLIS – The long-standing partnership between the Indiana State Police and IGot2Know brings Hoosiers an important holiday safety message through video this year. It has become increasingly important for the public to be aware of travel conditions and general holiday safety tips. Indiana's State Police Captain Dave Bursten relays this message through a video.

The Indiana State Police, protecting the welfare of all Indiana citizens, has created a strategic partnership with a national leader in video services, IGot2Know, to assist in the emerging video sector. This public service announcement is just one of many videos created by IGot2Know for the Indiana State Police.

Indiana State Police Captain Dave Bursten states, "We are very excited about our partnership with IGot2Know. This provides the Indiana State Police an additional venue to promote traffic safety messages or other information related to public safety for Hoosiers all across Indiana."

The IGot2Know team adds, "Video continues to change the way people do business. Leveraging video is a great way to communicate and engage Hoosiers with important tips. We are enthusiastic to be able to provide a diverse portfolio to citizens of Indiana."

The Indiana State Police serves to protect Hoosiers throughout the state of Indiana with professional, effective and courteous police service.
