

The Launch of Wireless Home Security Systems from Your Alarm Now Revolutionizes the Concept of Home Security in the United States and Canada

Eminent home security systems manufacturer Your Alarm Now is quickly emerging as one of the top home security solution providers in the United States and Canada. The ADT approved products from the company has received immense response from the customers so far. The company recently launched its comprehensive wireless security system that includes some of the most sophisticated security devices ever made.

Surprise, AZ (PRWEB) November 30, 2011

Your Alarm Now is one of the fastest growing home security systems manufacturers in the entire United States. The complete range of home security devices from the company has become extremely popular with the customers within a quick time. They have recently launched their highly sophisticated range of wireless systems. The wireless security systems have a distinct advantage over the traditional systems that have ruled the market for so many years. The wireless systems from Your Alarm Now remains active even when there is no power or when the telephone lines are dead. Therefore, the system can provide round the clock protection to the households.

The customers have informed that they prefer the home security systems from Your Alarm Now because they provide protection to every part of their home, and are easy to use. Moreover, customers feel more secure with the option of talking to an ADT monitoring agent in case of any abnormality. Kevin, a resident of Seattle, thanked Your Alarm Now saying that “Finally, my entire home is safe thanks to the wireless system from Your Alarm Now. The remote keychain device is my favorite, and is truly an amazing equipment”. The company offers many more such advanced equipment to provide full proof security to the households. Some of the most popular devices include the door and window sensors, burglar alarm siren, and ADT Yard Signs. The company is owned by experienced home security professional Mr. Paul Shakuri. While launching their wireless system, Mr. Shakuri said that “It is our target to provide these wonderful security systems within an affordable price range. We have many plans for future to serve the entire America and Canada”. Your Alarm now has been making constant addition to their product range ever since they hit the market. They are also expanding aggressively in the recent months to provide service to the different remote corners of America and Canada. The increase in popularity of the wireless home security systems is certainly the beginning of a new era. Your Alarm Now is all set to take a leading role in this rapidly changing scenario of the home security industry.

About the Company: Your Alarm Now is a rapidly expanding company providing state of the art home security systems in the entire United States and Canada. They are one of the pioneers in the manufacturing of wireless security solutions.

Contact:

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>