SilverEdge Named to 2011 Accounting Today Technology Pacesetter List for Fourth Consecutive Year

List honors companies that have remained ahead of the curve in innovation, growth and service.

Schaumburg, IL – December 2, 2011 – SilverEdge Systems Software, a professional services firm dedicated to providing consulting services and software solutions to project-based organizations, is pleased to announce their selection by Accounting Today magazine to the elite 2011 Technology Pacesetter list. This marks the fourth consecutive year that SilverEdge has been part of the list.

The list recognizes top reselling organizations in the accounting software marketplace that have clearly proven to be ahead of the curve in thinking and practices. A firm is invited to apply to be on the list, from the applications, the Accounting Today editors make their selections based on growth, innovation, customer service and participation in building the profession. Many of the list's members have turned to new revenue resources and are offering cloud technologies.

"We believe technology is a gift," said Maria Vedral, SilverEdge's president. "It is imperative that we are always on the leading edge of innovation in order to help our client's be as effective and as successful as possible." This year, SilverEdge added Intacct to their product offering. Intacct is a leader in cloud-based accounting and financial management systems.

"From the solutions we offer to the service we provide, the entire SilverEdge team is honored to be a part of this list," said Maria. "We strive to offer innovative solutions and experiences for our customers. This year we hosted a series of seminars that covered four primary areas of a business where technology could have a significant impact – people, prospects, processes and profits. The seminars allowed us to share our passion for technology with our community."
