

ADT Approved Home Security Systems Provider To Introduce CCTV System for Domestic Use Within a Month.

Your Alarm Now, a leading home security systems provider, has announced that they are about to launch their CCTV monitoring system for the households very soon. The company provides home security solution throughout the United States and Canada. They are one of the most preferred security service providers because of their innovative product range.

Surprise, AZ (PRWEB) December 02, 2011

Your Alarm Now is one of the most reliable providers of home security systems in the entire United States. In addition to the United States, the company also provides its domestic security solutions in Canada. They have just declared that a complete range of domestic CCTV monitoring system from the company is about to hit the market within a month. The announcement was made by the owner of the company Mr. Paul Shakuri. The company already offers a complete home security package that boasts of some of the most innovative developments in this field. All these highly sophisticated products from Your Alarm Now are approved by ADT.

CCTV surveillance system is the latest trend in home security systems. CCTV monitoring system is a proven tool to protect home and property by reducing crime. The company owner Mr. Paul Shakuri made the announcement saying, "A series of products will be launched by us in the next few months. The first one is a CCTV surveillance system for the domestic use. The final phase of work is on, and we expect to release it within a month". The package will consist of monitors, a digital recorder for video recording, and cameras. The technology of the CCTV security systems has made serious progress in the recent years. The costs have also reduced drastically.

Not many home owners would have even thought of installation of a CCTV system at home some years ago. However, the scenario has changed completely due to the sharp increase in crime rate over a period of time. Many home security systems providers are now offering CCTV monitoring systems as a part of their package. The company sources have revealed that the CCTV package from Your Alarm Now would consist of additional features like perimeter protection, fog deterrents, quick alarm response, and an attack monitoring system. Like all other products of the company, the CCTV system will also have an affordable price.

About the Company: Your Alarm Now is well known home security systems provider that serves customers in the entire United States and Canada. The company has announced that they are about to introduce their CCTV monitoring system within a month.

Contact:

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>