The Painless Way to a Paperless Office

Elmsford, New York – December 27, 2011
Digiscribe Turns Scanned Documents into Trees

Digiscribe, a metro-New-York based document scanning company, is turning scanned documents back into trees by supporting the Nature Conservancy's Plant a Billion Trees program. This is the fourth consecutive year that Digiscribe is donating a portion of their profits from their document scanning services to the Nature Conservancy.

"By donating to this important initiative, we are able to benefit the environment by doing more than decreasing paper usage in our clients' offices," said Mitch Taube, President of Digiscribe. "It's a win-win for our clients, their employees and our planet."

Supporting The Nature Conservancy is an extension of Digiscribe's environmentally-friendly document management services. A Coopers & Lybrand study revealed that a one-page business document is copied 19 times, on average. By eliminating paper copies with document scanning services, businesses can:

- Save more trees by using less paper.
- Reduce the energy required to cut down, manufacture, transport, copy and store paper.
- Prevent unnecessary deforestation.
- Decrease the emissions of factories that create paper and the trucks that transport it.
- Help maintain the balance and beauty of the environment.
- Reduce their "carbon footprint."

About Digiscribe
Digiscribe implements cost-effective document scanning and document management services that help businesses, non-profits and medical offices operate more efficiently, reduce costs and go green. Digiscribe's areas of expertise include; document scanning, e-forms, online document management, mailroom services, workflow automation, full-text OCR, e-mail management, document imaging, document indexing, in-house document management systems, document imaging software and box & media storage.

The company is one of the largest resellers of Digitech Systems' ImageSilo and PaperVision Enterprise electronic content management software in the New York tri-state area; a third year inductee into Digitech's Circle of Excellence; an Advisory Trade Member of AIIM; a Westchester APEX award recipient and a certified BBB member.

For more information visit www.digiscribe.info, call 800-686-7577 or email Mitch Taube at mitchtaube@digiscribe.info.

###