Your Alarm Now Introduces Independent Battery Backup Technology for Home Security Systems

Home security systems presented by Your Alarm Now are quickly making a significant impact in the industry of home security. The security packages from the company have grown in reputation ever since they started providing service in America and Canada. They have recently come up with an advanced battery backup power technology to provide round the clock security to their customers.

The home security systems manufactured and installed by Your Alarm Now will now be equipped with the latest battery backup power feature. The company has tasted incredible success in the market since the beginning of their journey last year. Their service is presently available in all major cities in Canada and America. The cellular backup technology is the latest addition in the home security industry, and it allows the system to remain functional even during power cuts. This is a clear advantage over the traditional surveillance systems which tend to rely on home power supply.

Most of the traditional home security systems depend on the home power supply. This has always been a concern because these systems can only function as long as power is available from the home. The advanced power back up technology uses an independent battery back up option to keep functioning even during power outage. Talking about this technology, the proprietor of the company Mr. Paul Shakuri said, "This technology enables our security systems to function irrespective of availability of power. The new feature will protect your home from burglars even when there is no power". Home security experts suggest that burglars tend to break-in a lot more during power cuts because they expect the security systems to remain inactive at that time.

This new feature of their home security systems has been highly appreciated by the customers of Your Alarm Now. Eric, a customer from Dallas expressed his satisfaction saying, "I am so excited to have this wonderful security system. Now my family is safe even when there is no power. I have recommended Your Alarm Now to many of my friends". This benefit is available with all the three packages offered by the company. The company also has a highly sophisticated package that can function without a telephone line. Reliable sources have revealed that the business figures of the company have improved since this feature was introduced by Your Alarm Now.

About the Company:

Your Alarm Now is one of the fastest growing home security companies in America. The experts suggested recently that battery backup feature of their systems is the prime contributor towards their success.
