

Elite Security Services Continues to Offer Free Wireless Control Device with their Home Security Systems in the Month of January 2012

Quickly expanding home security systems provider Elite Security Services has just announced that their customers can avail a free wireless control device with the security packages from the company in the month of January 2012. It may be noted that the same offer was available for their customers during the last month of the previous year, too.

Surprise, AZ (PRWEB) January 4, 2012,

The customers of the home security systems from Elite Security Services can avail a free wireless control system for their package during the month of January 2012. The premium security service provider of the nation offered the same benefit to its customers in the last month, as well. The security packages from the company have become a familiar name in the United States and Canada during the last year. The packages offered by the company are equipped with all the latest security gazettes. The wireless control key is an integral part of their packages, and has been highly acclaimed by the homeowners in Canada and the United States.

The advanced home security systems from Elite Security Services are available for a monthly cost of only $35.99. Some of the most notable components of their packages include an advanced motion detection device, loud alarm system, window and door sensors, etc. The remote keychain is an extremely handy tool that provides easy control to the entire security system. This device also has a panic button to connect to emergency assistance services. The remote keychain is a very popular part of the packages from the company. The best thing about the security service from them is that they can operate even when the telephone line and home power supply are not available. The ADT authorized dealers are now the leading domestic surveillance provider in this part of the world.

Elite Security Services is owned and managed by eminent domestic security consultant Mr. Paul Shakuri. Announcing the free offer from the company for the month, Mr. Shakuri said, "Looking at the ever increasing popularity of the remote keychain control tool, we have decided to extend our free offer for another month". The company regularly offers different other freebies with their home security systems for their customers. The company sources have revealed that several surprises are lined up for the customers of Elite Security Services for the year 2012.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a well known domestic security provider in the United States and Canada, and is an affiliate of Protect Your Home. The company specializes in providing low cost security service with all the latest equipments.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>