

MAS Media Inc. Acquires Dailyiphoneblog.com

Adding Over 2.5 Million Page Views to its Stable of Mobile Community Sites Network

Boca Raton, FL – (January 8, 2012) MAS Media Inc., one of the largest owners and operators of online social community networks has acquired the large tech social community, Dailyiphoneblog.com (<http://www.dailyiphoneblog.com>) from the originator of that social community on January 1, 2012.

“This acquisition helps MAS Media build to its current social communities in the Mobile space which include; DailyMobile.se and SmartPhoneForums.com. We think this is a growing and substantial market for consumers” said Phil DeLeon, CEO of MAS Media Inc.

Dailyiphoneblog.com has tremendous inroads to Apple’s iPhone market and offers users of those smart phones and those wishing to learn more about them an insight through regular blog postings, wallpapers, applications and more.

“Our ability to manage and develop on Apple’s platform for mobile users – specifically as it relates to the iPhone and iPad developments is fantastic”, DeLeon added. “Apple iPhone 3, iPhone 4 and iPhone 4S have allowed our bloggers and forum users the canvas to discuss among themselves the best Apple has to offer. Together with that, the iPad, iPad 2 and upcoming iPad 3 all are discussed in our communities”, said DeLeon.

MAS Media plans to add more social communities in the technology field as well as other niche markets in its business plan over the next three to five years.
