

Keychain Remote Control Equipment of Home Security Systems Introduced in Canada by Elite Security Services.

Elite Security Services has recently made yet another enhancement to their home security systems in Canada. All the domestic security packages from the company will now include a remote control device to control the functioning of the system. The security solutions from the renowned American security company were made available in Canada just a few months ago.

The home security systems offered in Canada by American home security experts named Elite Security Services will now have a new component. The company has just announced the arrival of a remote control keychain device from them in the Canadian security industry. Elite Security Services made its entrance in the Canadian home security industry in the later stages of 2011 and has made remarkable progress so far. They are already a potent force in the American domestic security arena with a strong presence all over the country. They are presently in an aggressive expansion drive in Canada. Apart from the remote control system, several other enhancements have been made recently by the company to emerge as a strong player in Canada, too.

The inclusion of the Keychain remote device to the home security systems was informed officially by Mr. Paul Shakuri, the proprietor of Elite Security Services. He is a respected figure in the security fraternity in America, and, has spent several years designing different types of advanced security systems. He introduced the new component to the Canadian industry saying, “This device looks exactly like a car remote control alarm and helps you to activate or deactivate the security system from your car, yard, or any part of the house”. He also informed that this equipment has a panic button that can help asking for emergency assistance in case of burglar attack or medical emergency.

This remote control keychain played a significant role behind the popularity of the home security systems from the company during their early days in the United States. The device still remains to be one of the most sought after components of the packages installed by them. At present, the company is providing this device completely free of charge with all the packages as a part of their special promotion for the month of January.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a well known American domestic security company that originated in Arizona. Now they provide top class security to households throughout Canada and the United States. They are also an affiliate of Protect Your Home.
