

The #1 Kindle U.K. Bestseller* from Two-Time ForeWord Magazine “Book of the Year” Winner Nick Nolan

A charismatic young messiah. Thousands gathered to hear his words. A single rifle shot. BLACK AS SNOW begins at the end—but then the story rewinds...

Sebastian Black is not only handsome and in possession of “...a sex-drive befitting a satyr on Viagra,” but he’s also telepathic—especially when his life’s in danger or when someone’s hungry for his carnal companionship. And BLACK AS SNOW is crawling with people who are out to get him—in both respects.

Because Sebastian’s mother—prophetess Kitty Black—touts him as the ‘next species of man’ and crowns him figurehead of their ‘green’ religious cult, some Apocalypse-minded Christian militants chase the young man from his Century City penthouse into the spectral California wilderness.

During his journey Sebastian is befriended by seven ‘everyday’ people who obliterate his privileged worldview. But during Sebastian’s absence Kitty’s cash dwindles, so she schemes to lure him home...even if it means conspiring with his enemies—in particular, a dashing Spaniard who darkly mirrors Sebastian’s preternatural talents and beauty. And as the clock ticks backward to the beginning of the story, it’s a race to see if Sebastian can save himself and those he has grown to love.
