

Elite Security Services Announces Free Offer for Door and Window Sensor with Their Home Security Systems Packages in Canada

Elite Security Services, one of the most popular home security systems companies in the United States, has declared yet another free gift for their Canadian customers. The customers of the company can receive sensors for doors and windows without any additional expense when they install any of their packages.

Installation of Elite Security Service's home security systems will now entitle the Canadian homeowners to receive free sensors for their windows and doors. This free offer was recently launched in Canada by the company. It must be mentioned here that the company is already offering lots of freebies to their customers since they started providing security service in this country. The company is now a reputed provider of domestic protection in the United States and looks all set to repeat the feat in Canada. Elite Security Services is owned by well known domestic security consultant Mr. Paul Shakuri. He has spent several successful years in the industry before the inception of his own company.

Introducing the free offer with their home security systems, Mr. Shakuri said, "All of you in Canada can now avail free three point protection for windows and doors with our sensors". These window and door sensors from Elite Security Services come equipped with a door chime alarm that warns the residents whenever any of these windows or doors is opened. Wireless sensors have emerged now as a vital component of any security package because of their benefits. The customers prefer the wireless device over the traditional ones because it helps them preserve the aesthetics of the house. Moreover, these sensors provide trustworthy security to areas which are difficult to access. Many of the customers of the company have installed these sensors in multiple points of their house.

There are three home security systems packages available from Elite Security Services at present. The free offer is valid on all these excellent security packages. Some of the other popular components of the packages include motion sensors, burglar alarm, digital keypad, keychain remote control, and more. Low cost coupled with advanced features and customer centric service has made them one of the most preferred security service providers in America and Canada. The industry experts have opined that the company is destined to achieve further success in the days to come.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a well known American domestic security company that originated in Arizona. Now they provide top class security to households throughout Canada and the United States. They are also an affiliate of Protect Your Home.
