

ABOUT KMG GOLD

Co-founded in 2007 by Michael Gupton, a graduate Civil Engineer and registered prospector, KMG Gold is recognized as Canada's leading authority on recycling gold and silver jewellery and other precious metals.

As a functioning refinery and not a middleman, KMG Gold is able to pay more to consumers and businesses wanting to recycle their unwanted precious metals. This fact has been confirmed and documented by numerous third party surveys.

The company has been recognized for advocating on behalf of the consumer and pushing for more transparency in the marketplace through public education. The KMG Gold website has become a valuable resource for those wanting to learn more about the industry.

KMG Gold is also the only company in the industry to receive multiple BBB awards for business ethics.
