Valdata Launches its New Website at valdatasystems.com

Chemical Management Solution provider Valdata Systems announced the launch of its new website today at <http://www.valdatasystems.com>

February 13, 2012: Valdata Systems, the renowned Chemical Management System provider, has launched a newly designed website highlighting its core suite of software modules including Warehouse Management, Manufacturing Execution, LIMS and Recipe Development.

The website leads customers through clear descriptions of the functions of Valdata's product line, but doesn't stop there. With the addition of press releases and white papers, it doubles as a reference source for those looking to solve problems in the areas of inventory and quality control.

"The new website design is part of our initiative to deliver information on both our products and important industry topics to both potential and existing customers," said Valdata Marketing Director Susan Balsamello. "The new website incorporates downloadable literature, video links, free software downloads, case studies and a blog. Our goal is for customers and prospective customers to use our site to learn more about our products and to see Valdata Systems as an industry leader in the Chemical Management solution arena."

Valdata Systems can also be found on LinkedIn, Facebook and Google+
