

Elite Security Services Re defines the Concept of Home Security Systems by Introduction of Free Next Day Installation Service throughout the United States and Canada

Nation's premier home security systems company has again hit the headlines by announcing the launch of free next day installation of their security packages. This facility is now available for the customers of Elite Security Services throughout Canada and the United States.

Elite Security Services has recently declared that they would be providing next day installation for their home security systems without any additional expenditure. Previously, this facility was available only in some selected cities in Canada and America. However, now this benefit can be availed by all their customers irrespective of their location. The company is now well established in the security industry as one of the strongest players. The phenomenal rise of the company can be attributed to their innovative security packages designed by distinguished security expert, and the owner of the company, Mr. Paul Shakuri. The company has been working hard in order to expand to the lesser known towns with their security solution.

Installation of home security systems has always been a problem for the home owners. The efficiency of the systems depends a lot on the quality of installation. The aesthetics of the house is the major factor that needs to be taken into account during the installation process. While making the announcement, Mr. Shakuri said, "Our service network has expanded sufficiently now to provide next day installation service to all of you. There is no extra cost involved when you avail this service". It may be recalled that installation charge for the security systems from the company is $99.00 only. The quality of installation provided by them is one of the best available in the market.

The home security systems customers can presently avail 3 user friendly and cost efficient packages from Elite Security Services. These packages have been designed carefully to provide maximum protection to the users within a reasonable price. They have two highly advanced packages that can function even without a telephone line or home power supply. All these packages can now be installed within 24 hours of purchase. Reliable sources from the company has informed that they are about to introduce many more customer friendly policies in the months to come.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-8452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>

