

Elite Security Services Emerges as a Top Player in Home Security Systems Industry in Canada

The industry of home security systems in Canada has seen the birth of a new leader in the last few months. Elite Security Services has made their presence felt in the industry within a few months of entering the market. The American company is now providing cost effective security service to Canadian households all over the country.

Elite Security Services is now a force to reckon with, as far as the Canadian market for home security systems is concerned. The company has experienced groundbreaking success in the country after entering the industry just a few months ago. The security services from them are now available all across Canada within an affordable price range. It may be recalled that the company's rise to prominence in Canada follows a similar success story in the United States. The man behind the success of Elite Security Services is believed to be their owner and experienced security consultant Mr. Paul Shakuri.

The home security systems designed by Mr. Shakuri's highly talented team has gained this success due to a number of factors. The wireless systems offered by Elite Security Services are all equipped with excellent features. The company uses all the latest devices to ensure leak proof home protection for their customers. The basic package from them is presently available in America and Canada for only $35.99 per month. Talking about the success of the company, Mr. Shakuri said, "Success always feels great. I thank all of you for making all these possible. We would certainly carry on from here, and provide much more to you in the future". He also added that some serious enhancements of their systems are on the cards very soon.

Apart for great quality and cheap price, the customer centric service of the company has also contributed to the success of Elite Security Services. Mr. Shakuri proudly says, "We are fortunate enough to have some of the most talented home security industry individuals working with us". The top class home security systems installation done by the company has been well acclaimed in the market. Melissa from Vancouver was all praise about Elite Security Services while describing her own experience of dealing with them. "It was an amazing experience dealing with them. Elite Security provides great price, great products, and incredible service. I would love to recommend them".

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-8452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>