

Popular Home Security Systems Blog Publishes New Post to Arm its Readers against Burglary

Well known home security systems company Elite Security Services has just published another useful post to their recently launched blog. This new blog article provides a number of excellent tips to help the homeowners gear up against burglary attacks. New articles and videos are regularly added to this popular blog.

Another informative home security systems article has just been published in the well acclaimed blog maintained by Elite Security Services. This new blog post shares detailed information on preventive measures to secure the home from burglary attacks. Elite Security Services is a leading home protection company that provides security service to households in the United States and Canada. The company launched their blog few months ago to share reliable safety tips with the readers. The blog is updated regularly by the addition of new articles and videos to it. All articles in this blog come from the well known domestic security expert Mr. Paul Shakuri, who is also the owner of Elite Security Services.

It is known to all that home security systems are meant to prevent burglary attacks. However, this article suggests that the safety and security of a house and its residents can be ensured by following a few simple safety measures. The use of 1 inch deadbolts during the installation of doors has been strongly recommended because it is much stronger compared to latch springs. Some people have the habit of leaving 'I am away' notes when they go out. This makes the job easier for the burglars. The article also advises the home owners to use radio timers to create an impression that people are in the house when actually there is none.

Mr. Shakuri has recommended many more simple measures to prevent burglary attacks in this article. Talking about his blog, he recently said, "We want to create a platform that promotes home security throughout the United States and Canada. It will be a great pleasure for us if we can help the homeowners with these articles". Elite Security Services has been operating since last few months in the home security systems industry and has received excellent response from the market so far. The low cost security packages from them have made their way into many households in Canada and America.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-8452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>