Commonwealth Legal moves Canadian eDiscovery securely into the Cloud

TORONTO, ON, CANADA – March 1, 2012 – COMMONWEALTH LEGAL, Canada’s only ISO 9001 quality-certified service provider for evidence management and litigation support solutions, officially announced today the launch of their eDiscovery | Managed Services offering – a service that will allow law firms and corporations to securely manage and review their electronic data in the cloud.

eDiscovery | Managed Services from Commonwealth Legal is a customizable solution to support the overall management and review of evidence by providing customers with highly-secure access to a powerful and scalable litigation support technology “toolkit” – the broadest of its kind in Canada, at a predictable fixed monthly rate.

“Case needs are changing, and the idea that one litigation support technology will work for all cases is no longer sustainable. Both law firm and corporate clients are demanding greater capabilities at a more cost-effective rate and, in some cases, fixed fee pricing on variable cost services,” says Jennifer Johnson, Director of Professional Services at Commonwealth Legal. “eDiscovery | Managed Services offers an affordable option that immediately enhances the legal team’s capabilities, provides on-demand scalability and allows law firms to stay focused on servicing their clients. By managing aspects of the technology on their behalf, we are able to empower legal teams to manage their cases in a more powerful and effective way than ever before.”

“Founded in 2000, Commonwealth Legal was the first full-service litigation support service provider to offer web-hosted solutions within a Tier IV Data Center,” says Karen Brookman, President of Commonwealth Legal. “We’ve been providing a managed services model to select clients since 2010. Based on the success of this model and increasing client demand we decided to expand the offering to include all of the web-hosted applications we support. This was a natural progression for us as we simply leveraged the systems, policies and processes that we have developed over the past 12 years.”

Commonwealth Legal’s eDiscovery | Managed Services offering can be purchased on a short or long term subscription basis. Software solutions are also available for on-premise installation depending on the specific needs of the customer.
