

Elite Security Services' Free Offer of Keychain Control Device with Home Security Systems Receives Tremendous Market Response.

The free offer of providing the popular remote keychain control system to customers with their home security systems has worked wonders for Elite Security Services. The company offers top class domestic security service in Canada and the United States. This free offer has now been operational for three consecutive months.

The market response for the home security systems introduced to the market by Elite Security Services has improved substantially in last three months. Along with many other factors, their free offer for the sophisticated keychain remote has been a major contributor to their increasing market penetration. Elite Security Services is one of the most prominent players in the security industry in Canada and the United States. Their excellent range of low cost security solutions has made them a household name in these two countries. Official sources have revealed that the demand for their systems has steadily increased in the last few months. Their comprehensive security plans start from only $35.99 per month.

The company uses all the latest devices in their home security systems. This keychain control system is a tiny device with extraordinary benefits. This device can activate or deactivate the entire security system from any nearby place in a breeze. The users can also seek emergency assistance using the panic button in the device. Talking about the extreme popularity of the product, the company owner Mr. Paul Shakuri states, "We are not too surprised to see the popularity of this device. We knew all of you are going to like it. This small unit can help you a lot in controlling the system easily". It is worth mentioning here that Mr. Shakuri is a respected personality in the home security industry and has been the architect behind the phenomenal success of his company.

Apart from this advanced security device, the home security system from the company consists of many other latest gadgets. Elite Security Services offers three security packages within an affordable price. The company is an ADT authorized dealer of security services and has been in the market since the later stages of the year 2011. The free keychain device offer has prompted many homeowners in Canada and America to install packages from Elite Security Services. Jordan from Wisconsin thanked the company for this offer stating, "It always feels great to receive a gift. I am really glad that I decided to install my security package with Elite Security. Thanks a lot."

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-8452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>

