Epic Digital offers several products in mobile development:

MOBILE APPLICATION CREATION

Mobile applications aren't just for your consumers. Today, more and more companies are creating applications to handle internal functions. Imagine if your employees could handle billing, invoicing, project tracking, bids, and more all from their handheld device? What if your customers could make reservations or book an appointment with you via an application advertised on an app store? Epic Digital offers high quality application creation for all Apple and Android devices. Worried about your budget? Contact an Epic Digital account executive today to discuss obtaining a quote that matches your budget.

MOBILE WEBSITE APPLICATIONS

Many businesses have a need for a unique user experience for their clientele, but don't have the time to create their application for all the platforms out there. One unique solution is to create a website application that works on the web, for all mobile devices. These website applications function just like phone apps, but are accessible through your website on mobile devices as opposed to being available on the individual app markets. Many companies use this as a way to jumpstart their mobile initiative, as a precursor to creating individual applications. This is a way to get a robust solution, quickly and effectively.

MOBILE WEBSITE CREATION

Epic Digital offers unique design for your mobile website. Epic Digital offers two different solutions: A simple plugin to convert to a mobile site if it is already based on a dynamic site (such as Joomla, Wordpress or Drupal). Epic also offers a completely customized solution, hand-crafting your mobile website to provide the most optimal experience for your users. Customize your mobile website so that it offers the same clarity and ease of use that your non-mobile website provides.

With Epic, all project management is transparent to our clients. Through the Epic Digital Labs, clients can glimpse through the window to see all communications between production artists and technicians on your project.
