

Elite Security Services Becomes House Owner's Top Destination for Affordable Home Security Systems in the United States & Canada

Elite Security Services has emerged as a popular home security systems provider in the United States and Canada within a few months of their entry to the market. Their low cost domestic protection packages have had a serious impact on the industry so far. The company has three advanced security packages starting from only $35.99 per month.

The home security systems industry has been taken by storm by Elite Security Services since last few months. The new entrants in the industry have grown repeatedly in terms of reputation since they started providing service in this highly competitive industry. The company provides highly advanced home protection systems within all budgets. Their packages have been installed in many households all over the United States and Canada. Well known domestic protection consultant Paul Shakuri is the owner of the company. He has established this company with a vision of promoting a society without crime by providing security to the life and belongings of the homeowners for an awe inspiring price.

There is a common perception that home security systems are extremely expensive to afford. Elite Security Services have proven it wrong by providing excellent round the clock surveillance to households within a tight budget. Talking about the service offered by his company, Mr. Shakuri recently stated, "We are extremely pleased to find out that people like our service. However, our broader objective is to secure every household in America and Canada by providing packages within a common man's reach". He also added that the company wishes to expand even to the rural and semi urban areas because home protection is required now in those areas, as well.

Elite Security Services is an ADT authorized dealer for home security systems. The basic package from them is now available in the market for a rental of $35.99 per month. The two other packages are specially designed to operate without home power and telephone lines, and are priced at $ 40.99 and $44.99. The home security industry stalwarts are considering them to be one of the companies to look out for, for the future of the industry. The advent of Elite Security Services certainly augers well for the millions of home owners looking for an efficient security system within their budget.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-599-8452.

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>