KillerBee Marketing is Bent on Creating a "Buzz"

COLUMBIA, MO – KillerBee Marketing is a cutting edge online start-up focused on search engine optimization and web design, manned by some of the best and brightest web designers and digital artists available. Founded in 2009, KillerBee Marketing prides itself on their determination to not be one of those fly by night operations you won't be able to find in 10 years.

And with the new co-owner Cheri Morey, they've just added another pro to the team who brings more than 15 years of web design experience into the mix, just to keep things interesting.

Of course, while they may not be a typical brick and mortar you'd find on a local street corner it certainly doesn't stop them from striving to provide a superior customer experience to the people they serve.

Currently set to make serious waves in the SEO and web industries, KillerBee Marketing has recently received three search engine optimization certificates to beef up their reputation as one of the best. In addition they have just launched their own hosting company as a companion operation to KillerBee Marketing where they are offering more than just "mere web hosting services".

Cheri states "With our dedication to our customers and our new hosting company I believe we are poised to have a great 2012." She just may be right if early customer feedback is any indication!

They are currently rewarding the loyalty of new customers by providing free hosting for a year when they allow KillerBee to handle their website and design needs. In addition they offer many extras such as training, SEO, customizations, and more.

investment and continue with their efforts to generate a “buzz” in the SEO, web design and hosting markets. So far it looks as though they are doing a spectacular job of doing exactly that!
