Indusface announces strategic partnership with leading MSSP player Telelogix

Aims at rapid expansion in UAE for its next generation website security product - IndusGuard

Vadodara – India, 21st March, 2012: Indusface, an award winning information security organization, is pleased to announce its partnership with Telelogix IT Services, a leading IT & telecom managed services organization headquartered out of UAE. Telelogix will be the authorized sales arm for IndusGuard, the flagship product of Indusface in UAE.

IndusGuard by Indusface is a zero touch, non intrusive, cloud-based software that provides daily monitoring and scanning to secure and safeguard websites whilst checking for systems, application vulnerabilities, and malware. IndusGuard helps safeguard information security on the web by performing daily vulnerability assessment, application audit and malware monitoring. It provides expert reports and remediation plans to keep websites and web applications running smoothly. The solution greatly reduces the time, risk and cost of finding and fixing web vulnerabilities and malware. It therefore allows businesses to meet compliance and audit requirements.

Telelogix presents a great MSSP offering for Indusface due to its huge presence in the UAE market. As Indusface looks forward to grow its business, Telelogix is an able partner to facilitate this expansion in UAE. This will be made possible through the channels that already exist for them in the market. The partnership will make Indusface's foray into UAE a more fruitful venture as they will have access to existing customers as well. With website owners becoming conscious about the safety of their online property, a security offering that provides daily web security becomes mandatory. This is where Indusface is stepping in.

"IndusGuard is a great fit and it helps strengthen our value proposition to our customers. This product is known for its comprehensive web security comprising of vulnerability assessment, application audit and malware monitoring. Therefore, with IndusGuard we will be able to provide a more in depth web security solution to customers in the UAE. We are also excited about the flexibility of use this application will offer at competitive rates. We are enjoying immense value and traction in this relationship given the interest shown by multiple customers, and already one of the fastest growing financial institutions in this region has come on board for IndusGuard." said Mr. Lerrick Dlima, Country Manager, Telelogix.

"Keeping in line with our plans to expand overseas, we are happy to partner with Telelogix in UAE. This is a great platform for us because we get access to channels in a country with immense potential. We are keen on changing the way information security is perceived here with our path breaking product IndusGuard. I would like to applaud Telelogix for taking a leadership role with the goal of bringing new innovation and security services to this market." said Mr. Venkatesh Sundar, Vice President, Business Development of Indusface.
