Valdata Systems - Sophisticated Simplicity in Manufacturing

Valdata Systems incorporates operator-friendly navigation in its High End Chemical Management Suite for exceptionally easy to use operation and implementation

March 27, 2012: Valdata Systems Chemical Management Software suite ("CMS") has been designed to incorporate easy to navigate menus and a 'prompt and police' theme throughout, aiding in the ease of use and implementation of this highly sophisticated system. CMS consists of four interrelated modules including Manufacturing Execution, Warehouse Management, LIMS and Recipe Development.

This is a departure from typical, complicated MRP / ERP systems that are not only complex on the back-end, but on the user facing side as well. This often increases implementation and training costs, employee resistance, and difficulty achieving an effective transition.

No one disputes that a system must be sophisticated to achieve desired results. Valdata's perspective is that this complexity does not need to translate into a difficult to use system. Rather, CMS achieves a high level of complexity but presents it in a way that is free flowing and simple to use:

'Sophisticated Simplicity in Manufacturing'

One of Valdata Systems customers had this to say:

"...Valdata's <System> has streamlined our raw material weighing and batch process operations, while improving inventory accuracy and process control. The Compound operators find the system easy to navigate and use, resulting in improved efficiency"

George Ott, Chanel Director of Manufacturing.

Valdata Systems customers have installed, trained and implemented systems in as little as six months. Due to the easy to use nature of the system, across the board employee feedback is positive and all that were interviewed said that they would not go back to their previous methods.
