

Premium Home Security Systems Package from Elite Security Services Grabs the Attention of Homeowners in Canada & America with its Two Way Voice Technology

The recent introduction of the premium package of home security systems from Elite Security Services has become the hottest topic of discussion in the security industry. This package is being appreciated by the industry experts for the advanced two way voice technology that helps users to connect to the dispatchers from ADT from anywhere inside their home.

Elite Security Services has again made news by introducing their advanced home security systems plan named the Elite Package. This package makes use of advanced technology for enhanced connectivity with the monitoring centers. The company has been operating with flying colors in Canada and America since last few months and has done well to create a relationship of trust with their customers. The domestic protection plans from them are known as a perfect combination of affordable price, superior performance, and customer friendly service. The premium package from them has been priced very reasonably, with a monthly rental of $ 40.99 per month.

The just launched home security systems package from Elite Security Services has a highly sophisticated control panel powered by intercom facility. The system significantly reduces the response time while communicating to the monitoring stations because the intercom device can verify the nature of the emergency. While launching this package, a senior spokesperson from Elite Security Services said, " This package would be extremely useful because it can verify the emergency and helps you connect immediately to ADT monitoring stations from anywhere within your house". Security industry specialists have informed that the chance of success for this package is very high in the present market.

Elite Security Services was formed by revered home security systems consultant Paul Shakuri less than a year ago. Apart from this new plan, the company has two more excellent domestic protection packages. All these packages are studded with all the latest security devices irrespective of the price of the package. Providing proactive and efficient customer service is one of their biggest strengths. According to the owner and founder of the company Mr. Paul Shakuri, the company operates with a much larger vision of creating a crime free society in this part of the world.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.
