

ROCKLER PRESENTS THE JANIBELL SWING-OUT WASTE CONTAINER

Innovative Design Adds Convenience and Improves Waste Management

MEDINA, MN (April 10, 2012) - Rockler has announced that it will now distribute Janibell's Swing-Out Waste Container which has been rated as "medical grade." Ideally suited for home or shop debris and "trash," the Swing-out Waste Container incorporates a continuous plastic liner system for increased protection against germs and harmful bacteria as well as an easy and secure mounting system for behind-the-door mounting applications.

"People rarely use the words 'superb engineering' when speaking about trash cans," said Jim Carroll, Product Category Manager. "The smart design and extremely high quality of the Janibell product, combined with the continuous liner and swing-out features, really do set this apart and above other waste and trash containers currently on the market."

The Janibell Swing-out Waste Container is mounted on the inside of a cabinet door with a simple "peel and stick" mounting system. The ultra-strength adhesive creates a permanent bond within 24 hours. Changing bags has been simplified by the continuous, built-in bag cartridge which is mounted at the top of the waste pail. The Janibell continuous bag design allows users to determine individual bag size with each use.

The Janibell Swing-Out Waste Container (48596) retails for $39.99. Replacement Liners, sold in packs of 3 rolls (49645, enough for about 120 full bags), retail for $14.99 a pack. They are available at Rockler Woodworking and Hardware stores nationwide, Rockler independent resellers, Rockler.com, or in the Rockler catalog.
