

American Home Security Systems Experts Elite Security Services Announce their Entry in the Canadian Market.

Familiar home security systems company from America named Elite Security Services has decided to venture into the Canadian security market. The company has been providing service in the American market with flying colors since almost a year now. All three highly efficient service packages of the company are now available in the Canadian market.

A highly successful debut in the American home security systems market has inspired Elite Security Services to enter the industry in the neighboring country Canada. The company was formed less than a year ago. However, they have been able to build an excellent reputation the industry with their exemplary service standards. Elite Security Services presently has three highly acclaimed domestic protection packages, and all of them have now hit the market in Canada. The service from Elite Security Services would be initially available only in the larger cities in the country, and gradually the company will start providing service to homeowners throughout the country including the rural and semi-urban areas.

One major reason behind the astounding success of the home security systems from the company is their affordable price. The basic package from them costs only $35.99 per month. The two other service plans named premium and elite package are priced at $40.99 and $44.99 per month respectively. Though all of them are highly advanced with the latest features, the elite package deserves a special mention. This package can provide round the clock protection to the home owners even when the telephone lines are dead. The package uses technology that is similar to mobile phones and has nothing to do with basic phones. This package is highly popular in the American market, especially among households without land line phones.

The packages from Elite Security Services have tons of other advanced features and a highly professional installation team. Some of the most skillful home security systems technicians in the country provide a competitive edge to the company over their competitors. Elite Security Services is owned by noted security specialist Mr. Paul Shakuri. His charismatic leadership and wealth of experience have also been a pivotal factor in the success of the company. Announcing the launch of their service in Canada, Mr. Shakuri said, "This is a very big day for all of us. We have been working on this since a long time and finally we are here in Canada. We look forward to provide quality service in the Canadian market".

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.
