At the 2012 Marriott Global Full Service Hotel Conference, held earlier this month in Los Angeles, the Covington, KY hotel was awarded the 2011 Marriott Staff Service Award. This was given to the hotel in direct acknowledgement of the Hotel's dedication to providing superior customer service to all guests.

"The Marriott Staff Service Award is one of the highest honors given to a hotel by the Marriott brand," General Manager Kris Brown proudly states. "As a management team, we have worked very hard to push our experience to the top of the Marriott echelon."

The Hotel rallied around him and his family during a difficult time. Working with their sister hotels, the Embassy Suites Cincinnati and the Hilton Cincinnati Airport, they hosted a benefit for Tim in which over $35,000 was raised for the Whyte family.

The Hotel was also awarded the 2011 Hotel of the Year award. "We are so proud of the accomplishments of this hotel," states Robert Burg, Chief Operating Officer for Aimbridge Hospitality. "They have worked diligently to take care of their customers: both internal and external. The criteria for winning an award of this caliber are high. A hotel must achieve so much from a service, financial and culture perspective. We could not be happier the Marriott has won it for 2011."
