ELINA MADISON IGNITES A FURY IN “HUFF”
Actress to Appear at Texas Frightmare for the Film’s Premiere Screening

(April 23, 2012) Dallas – The queen of scream herself, Elina Madison (Creepshow III, Curse of the Forty Niner, CHOP) will come to Dallas May 4-6, 2012 to introduce fans to her latest film, “Huff.” Madison delivers a heartfelt, emotional performance as Lorelei, a desperate and abused wife and mother, in the WindChaser Pictures project.

HUFF, is described as a clever adaptation of the classic bedtime story “The Three Little Pigs,” and stars Charlie O’Connell (“The Bachelor, Season 7”) as Virgil “Huff” Huffington (the “wolf”), a sexually abusive stepfather who embarks on a rage-induced killing spree as he pursues his three stepdaughters who at their mother’s prompting (Madison) have run away with his money intended for a big drug deal.

“The folks at Texas Frightmare Weekend requested a screener of our rough cut and we were happy to oblige,” says Executive Producer and Writer Cort Howell. “The fact they selected our film based on an early, unfinished edit tells us that our hard work has paid off.”

“It was a true pleasure working on this film and with this extremely talented cast and crew,” Madison stated from her home near Los Angeles. “I’m looking forward to sharing it with the people of Dallas at Frightmare.”

The film features a cameo appearance by Clint Howard (Apollo 13, Evilspeak, “Star Trek”) who is currently scheduled as a special guest at the festival.

An early review from WhySoBlu.com hails Huff as “a sickening twist to a childhood favorite.” “Another chilling performance in Huff is done by actress Elina Madison who plays Huff’s wife, [Lorelei. I was brought] to tears in one scene with her honesty and pain. Just the conviction in her eyes was strong enough to pull the emotion out... She layered [Lorelei] well and I was impressed with how she captivated me.” (whysoblu.com/huff-2012-rough-cut-movie-review/).

HUFF is expected to appear in other festivals followed by a formal release in September 2012.
