Highly popular home security systems plan from Elite Security Services named the Elite package is now available in Canada. The American security company has just recently stepped into the Canadian security industry. The domestic protection plan is equipped with latest features to function without a basic telephone line.

Inspired by its groundbreaking success in the American market, Elite Security Services has just introduced their Elite home security systems plan to the Canadian market. One may remember that the company recently entered the domestic security market in Canada. The Elite package is the most advanced security plan from the company, and it has experienced tremendous success in America. Elite Security Services is a recently formed company that has created an excellent reputation by providing economical security solution for the household. The Elite package boasts of an amazing feature that helps it operate without basic telephone line.

This fabulous home security systems plan has a latest feature known as the cellular backup technology that is almost identical to the technology of mobile phones. This feature helps the system to remain operational without basic phone line or when the phone line is dead. Traditional domestic protection systems depend solely on home telephone lines to convey messages to the monitoring stations. Therefore, it is very easy to deactivate these systems simply by disconnecting the phone line. On the other hand, the advanced systems like the elite package from Elite Security Services can perform round the clock without the involvement of any landline phone.

This highly useful security plan is available now in Canada for a monthly fee of $44.99 only. This home security systems package received phenomenal response from households in America that do not use a landline telephone. During the launch of the new plan in the Canada, the proud owner and founder of the company Mr. Paul Shakuri said, "This is one of the most advanced home security plans in the industry. Now your home will be under strict vigil throughout the day. Most importantly, a landline phone is no longer a necessity to enjoy top quality protection for your home".

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.
