

Mama.com // Mama.ca

Available for First Time via Public Sale

The Chicago-based business incubator, Empresario, has announced the availability of its premium domains Mama.com and Mama.ca. Both domains are currently available through Moniker's Spring 2012 Premium Domain Auction, which is open now thru May 17th. The sale of Mama.com will also include the Twitter handle @mama.

This marks the first time in history that Mama.com and Mama.ca have been made available for public purchase. In addition, four-letter domain names are both rare, as well as valuable commodities. Mama.com is an especially valuable domain name because it presents a wealth of opportunity and direction for potential buyers due to its connection to a key consumer demographic, as well as the universality of its meaning.

"Mama.com's inclusion in Moniker's auction is a very special opportunity," said Empresario Founder, Omar Solis. "Mama is part of a universal language, keeping its meaning throughout the world. The possibilities for this domain name, and future website are almost endless, and its auction could be a historic one. I can't wait to see where it lands."

For more info on the sale of Mama.com and the Moniker Spring Auction, please visit www.domainauctions.moniker.com/2012/Moniker-Premium-Spring-Auction or contact Kevin Kopas at brokerage@moniker.com or 1-800-688-6311 option 4.

Empresario is also the owner of a large and diverse domain portfolio, with several other premium domains available for purchase. To see Empresario's full domain catalog, or to learn more, please visit www.empresario.com.

About Empresario:

Empresario is an entrepreneurial company that cultivates the web through research, development, and application. A Chicago-based company, Empresario possesses years of experience in propelling Internet ventures, and shares global connections to leaders in the online space. Empresario also provides bright entrepreneurs with knowledge, resources, and opportunities to develop new business concepts utilizing Empresario's dynamic platform. In this way, Empresario is an incubator of enterprising talent as well as business.