

Charles Matthews, MD, MBA

Center: Georgia Center for Total Cancer Care at Cowles Clinic

Combined Medical/Business Degree: Wake Forest University

Residency Training: The Johns Hopkins Department of Radiation Oncology and Molecular Radiation Sciences

Undergraduate: Duke University

Special Interests: IMRT, IGRT, Prostate Cancer, Breast Cancer, Lung Cancer, Stereotactic Body Radiation

Dr. Matthews is a member of the American Society for Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology. He was one of the major contributors to a widely disseminated Radiation Oncology handbook, Radiation Oncology: A Question-Based Review, used by residents and medical students across the country. He founded OncCharts.com, an innovative web tool for cancer patients designed to help them validate the quality of their cancer care (Available May 2012; patent pending).

Dr. Matthews resides in Greensboro, Georgia with his wife and son. He enjoys playing golf, basketball and chess. He actively follows Duke basketball and pro sports.