

ADT Authorized Security Systems Dealer Offering Free Wireless Control Key with their Tucson Home Security Packages For The Month of June.

Elite Security Services, a leading player in Tucson home security industry, is now offering a free keychain remote control device with all their service plans. This special offer would be available throughout the month of June for their customers in Tucson. The company is well known for their cost efficient service plans that are available in all major cities, in Canada and United States.

The Tucson home security customers availing domestic protection service from Elite Security Services can now avail free wireless control key for the entire month of June. The company is now considered to be one of the top service providers in the growing home protection industry in this region. In less than one year, they have emerged as a preferred choice for the customers primarily because of their low cost security packages. The just announced free benefit from them is available with all three service plans from the company. It must be mentioned here that the remote keychain control device is an extremely popular component of the service plans from Elite Security Services and is rated highly by all their customers.

Tucson home security industry has grown immensely due to the increase in crime rate over the last few years. However, traditionally, home surveillance systems have always been used only by the affluent segment of the society because of their exorbitant price. Elite Security Services has caused a paradigm shift in the thought process of users with their easily affordable protection plans. Apart from providing low cost plans, the company also offers tons of freebies throughout the year to their customers. The remote keychain device helps users control their security devices more efficiently from their house, car, or yard. There is also a panic button for emergency assistance.

Introducing this month long offer, the owner of Elite Security Services Mr. Paul Shakuri stated, "We always try to offer something extra to all our customers. The remote keychain is a tiny device with exceptional utilities. All of you are going to love using this device". He also added that many more similar free benefits would be introduced very soon for the customers of the company. Tucson home security industry experts have opined that this promotional offer would certainly strengthen Elite Security Services' position in the market.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-880-9569

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>