

AGENDA: Building Executive Talent Pools

MANAGING EXECUTIVE TALENT?

BENEFITS:

- Learn best practices
- Benefit from others' lessons learned
- Discover current trends
- Expand your network within the executive search community

BY INVITATION ONLY

To indicate interest in attending, send an email including your:

- name
- title
- company
- phone number to

Info@ScoutRock.com

More information, visit www.ScoutRock.com

Read our blog at www.ScoutRock.com/blog

Follow us on Twitter @ScoutRockLines

Sign up for membership

Building Executive Talent Pools

8:30 Continental breakfast

9:00 Meeting begins and introductions

9:15 Designing High-Performing Talent Pools

Mike Johnson: Senior Vice President, Avature

Mike will discuss the ROI and overall business strategy for building executive talent pools.

10:15 Break

Chris Murdock: Senior Partner at IQTalent

10:30 Developing and Executing a Research Strategy

Currently leading his own company helping clients build pipelines of interested and qualified talent, Chris also ran research at Yahoo, Heidrick & Struggles and TMP Worldwide

11:15 Roundtable discussions

Kyle Killian: CEO Battle to Boardroom

A former Navy Seal, Kyle is developing corporate leadership-talent pipelines through a leadership-transition fellowship. The program provide combat veterans a life-changing career transition and lays the foundation for the next generation of business leaders.

12:15 Capitalizing on Military Executive Talent

Established as a non-profit organization, Battle to Boardroom partners with corporations to develop, coach, mentor, and onboard to civilian organizations cadres of highly capable veteran leaders.

1:30 Adjourn

ScoutRock makes every effort to adhere to published agenda and schedules, but they may change depending on speaker availability. Changes will be posted on ScoutRock's website and also emailed directly to members.

When: July 18, 2012
Where: Gleacher Center
The University of Chicago
Booth School of Business
450 North Cityfront Plaza Drive
Chicago, IL 60611
312-464-8787